

Leon Trotsky- on the Principles of Daily Routines Breaking down and Economic Crisis in Russia and the Future as Economism and Resolution of a Daily Life Utopia which then is also a Breakdown in daily affairs - when will Communism be less lyrical - I think its argument is freedom, even anarchism - let me reply to Lenin (1917-1918)

By Leon Trotsky

- I. In fact a personal crisis, and economic crisis then economic success and still a crisis - permanent revolution and daily routines in fact an Object of Kantian sublime

I mean that the Kantianism of all people is to be part of the sublime in cinema that history has turned cinematic and the people are all gasping on its beauty.

- II. Insurrection - movements of such a formalism - called reflexive development of consciousness and trade union, party line and waiting for objective Congress - formats of revolutions afterall. (1918)

Insurrectional force, and general strike I call revolution - even general peasant commune I call revolution - after this it is just a wait for the Congress -which is the objectivization of these protests into a party of the Paris Commune model - meant to agitate for the leader and General Secretary - I call this the format.
